“ Everything tends to make us believe that there exists a certain point of the mind at which life and death, the real and the imagined, past and future, the communicable and the incommunicable, high and low, cease to be perceived as contradictions. ”

André Breton

Gallery Red invites you to experience the intricate internal and external worlds of two unique artists Jackie Cavallaro and Berenice Carrington. The show features portraits, mixed media, object art, installation and automatic drawing.

Jackie Cavallaro

Berenice Carrington

Jackie Cavallaro crafts her work with a metaphysical quality to evoke paper tole which she describes as “diaristic and serendipitous”. One thing leads to another, combining again with another and becoming a diorama of found objects and finely cutout images. The theme of her work centres around mementos, memory and nature.

Berenice Carrington’s work White Lady comprises of 13 portraits of anthropologists and sociologists and a collection of “elaborate doodles”. The work draws on

About: Gallery Red is a new venue that aims to showcase the wealth of emerging talent in Sydney's artist community. It will feature both gallery curated and artist curated exhibitions, and support the artists and craftspeople emerging from our colleges, schools and universities. Red aims to foster young artists and provide a stepping stone between emerging artists and commercial galleries.

Curator: Allison O'Sullivan allison@galleryred.com.au

Allison studies Art Theory and Administration at UNSW College of Fine Arts. She has previously been involved with other local galleries, notably Gallery Adagio.

Director: Anthony Cummins ant@redantmedia.com.au

Anthony is a graphic designer and Creative Director of Red Ant Media, an agency which offers design and web services to the SME sector. Anthony studied graphic design at the University of Newcastle, and is a member of the Design Institute of Australia.
